

The following is a list of specific situations or conditions that Biofield Tuning should not be used in conjunction with:

Cancer

- Detox pathways are often too compromised and the body doesn't have the resources to manage the process
- Detox can be severe
- Tumors seem to be irritated by tuning

Terminal Illness

- Body systems are compromised and do not have capacity to digest energy
- Detox can be severe

End-of-life

- Tuning forks are too strong for the system
- Detox can be severe

Pregnancy

- Could potentially send client into detox
- Risk for miscarriage

Pacemaker or Medical Implants

- Tuning forks could interfere with these devices

Recent Concussions

- Brain is swollen and takes a while for inflammation to resolve
- Wait at least 3 months before doing a tuning on the head, 6 months is even better

Morbid obesity

- Not necessarily contraindicated, but can create profound detox
- Suppressed emotions held in fat cells
